Our studies have detected a correlation between the motor fibers grown in the left side of the brain and the H&Y scale (p=0.004). We compute the fiber density relative to the

Clinical Relevance

This system offers a treatment for patients according to the analysis system. The cognitive tests applied...